NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW HEALTH INFORMATION MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

I. MY PLEDGE REGARDING HEALTH INFORMATION: Great Joy Counseling and Consulting Services (GJCCS) understands that health information about you and your health care is personal. GJCCS is committed to protecting health information about you. GJCCS creates a record of the care and services you receive from me. GJCCS needs this record to provide you with quality care and to comply with certain legal requirements. This notice applies to all of the records of your care generated by this mental health care practice. This notice will tell you about the ways in which GJCCS may use and disclose health information about you. GJCCS also describes your rights to the health information it keeps about you, and describes certain obligations it has regarding the use and disclosure of your health information. GJCCS is amrequired by law to:

- Make sure that protected health information ("PHI") that identifies you is kept private.
- Give you this notice of my legal duties and privacy practices with respect to health information.
- Follow the terms of the notice that is currently in effect.
- GJCCS can change the terms of this Notice, and such changes will apply to all information acquired about the client. If the Notice is changed, the new Notice will be available upon request, in my office, and on my website.

II. HOW GJCCS MAY USE AND DISCLOSE HEALTH INFORMATION ABOUT YOU:The following categories describe different ways that GJCCS uses and discloseshealth information. For each category of uses or disclosures GJCCS will explain what I mean and try to give some examples. Not every use or disclosure in a category will be listed. However, all of the ways GJCCS is permitted to use and disclose information will fall within one of the categories.

For Treatment Payment, or Health Care Operations: Federal privacy rules (regulations) allow health care providers who have direct treatment relationship with the patient/client to use or disclose the patient/client's personal health information without the patient's written authorization, to carry out the health care provider's own treatment, payment or health care operations. GJCCS may also disclose your protected health information for the treatment activities of any health care provider. This too can be done without your written authorization. For example, if a clinician were to consult with another licensed health care provider about your condition, we would be permitted to use and disclose your person health information, which is otherwise confidential, in order to assist the clinician in diagnosis and treatment of your mental health condition.

Disclosures for treatment purposes are not limited to the minimum necessary standard. Because therapists and other health care providers need access to the full record and/or full and complete information in order to provide quality care. The word "treatment" includes, among other things, the coordination and management of health care providers with a third party, consultations between health care providers and referrals of a patient for health care from one health care provider to another.

Lawsuits and Disputes: If you are involved in a lawsuit, GJCCS may disclose health information in response to a court or administrative order. GJCCS may also disclose health information about your child in response to a subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process by someone else involved in the dispute, but only if efforts have been made to tell you about the request or to obtain an order protecting the information requested.
